JACKSON, MISS.

Wednesday, : : November 28, 1866

Societies are being organized throughout Kentucky for the purpose of aiding the poor of the South. Her surplus of corn and meat will be given to the needy of the desolated States.

The gross receipts at the port of New Orleans from the 1st of January to the 1st of November from the cotton tax foot up the large sum of $1,831,808 34. This is a pretty burdensome tax upon a people who are deprived of representation.

The directors of the Louisiana Fair have given a gentleman of New Orleans a gold medal as a reward for the best barrel of beer manufactured in the State. The American people are far behind their John Bull friends in the manufacture of this article. The producers of Frome and Burton-on-Trent alone have grown rich by manufacturing and shipping to British India their famous East India Pale Ale. "The water," Periera says "is the important element in the success of these ales." Good cistern water, which is not scarce in these parts, we think would answer just as well as the waters of the Frome or the Trent. Have we no enterprising people among us to try the manufacture of a good article which shall possess all the tonic properties of that we import? As the people of this country will drink, they should encourage the production of a decent home article of healthy properties instead of the swill called Lager.

We are glad to see a decline in wholesale prices at the North. There is a decline in cotton and cotton fabrics, a decline in cattle and in provisions, a decline in sugars, a decline in wool, tallow, leather, naval stores, metals, bonds, stocks, &c., &c. The Baltimore Sun says it is found that there has been over-production in many things, especially in manufactures, that is, production beyond the ability and consumption of the people to consume at the high prices asked, and in many cases the protectionists have thus overreached themselves. It is found, also, that breadstuffs and provisions are plentiful in the country, and dealers must realize that they are to be satisfied with less than the exorbitant profits of war. The large stocks held in the West on borrowings at high rates of money cannot be held much longer, as the rates of interest are rising in the East also. According to the New York World, the heavy decline in the price of beef, mutton and pork which has taken place during the past few weeks has no parallel since the year 1837.

A GUY FROM THE VATICAN.—The Pope has distributed to the Cardinals the allocutions, which he pronounced in the late consistory. One of them concerns Italy. The Holy Father deplores the persecution by the new government of the bishops, priests and monks, the suppression of the religious order, the secularization of ecclesiastical property and civil marriages. Pío Nono condemns all these acts which, by-the-by, he approves of in France, Belgium and other countries where the Catholic religion is that of the State—calling to mind the censures of the Church against their authors, and nevertheless he gives his benediction to Italy. His Holiness afterwards protests against the invasion and usurpation of the Pontifical provinces, against the project of the revolution to make Rome the capital of the new kingdom.—He again, for the hundredth time declares himself ready to suffer even death to restore the sacred rights of the Holy See, and to seek if necessary in another land the security required for the exercise of the Apostolic mission. He recommends prayers to be offered up that Italy may repent of the evils she has caused the church. In the other allocution Pío Nono declares that Prussia has violated the concordat concluded with the Holy See in 1846.

The Selma Times goes in for the "rising question." It favors impartial suffrage provided the test oath act is repealed, our Congressmen admitted and a general amnesty declared.

It is said that soon after the war, Mr. Ben Hill, of Georgia, was counsel in a great cotton case in that State, involving some millions of dollars, and that he received for his services a hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

A New Explanation of Sherman's Mission.

A special Washington dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat says there is the highest authority for the following partial explanation of Gen. Sherman's mission to Mexico. He goes by a previous arrangement to be present at the election of a President and Congress; after which, according to the plan, this new government is to ask for protection from the United States. Gen. Sherman will then be on hand to use troops which may be within call. The Administration asserts that the concentration of troops in Texas has regard only to Indians, and that they were sent principally at the request of Gov. Throckmorton; but in the light of the above statements, and they may be taken as well founded, it is the intention to have the movement result in an armed intervention between the different factions in Mexico, to be made as soon as the French abandon the country. We give this as the latest from the "Mexican media." The people can "weigh" it for themselves. It comes from an ebony sheet that is opposed to Presidential interference, and wishes the peace, to quote from the New Orleans Bulletin, "left in bondage to the clergy, the rancheros, and the Emperor."

It seems but right that free trade shall be opened with Canada, but they see no objections to the French Government taking control of the Custom House at Vera Cruz and Tampico. There is even a greater trouble still. The "Boys in Blue" may take a fancy to air the old flag in a foreign campaign. They may have a curiosity to test the comparative prowess of the Anglo-Saxon and Latin races. To hold a sort of tournament as it were. Not improbably some of the Southern boys may pitch in, and then there may be the usual enthusiasm of one brave man for another, and all these consequences which give an honest man pleasure, but make a politician feel very miserable at the prospect of human harmony. Now, if the friends of humanity approve this policy of a Mexican protectorate, there may be more territory added, and there may be a development of Southern commerce and immigration. There might be some seven or eight millions more constituents to vote in the Presidential elections. There may be fifty or sixty more Congressmen to be sworn in, and the whole politics of the country may be thrown into confusion. If the reformers offend the "Boys in Blue" by any indiscreet connection to a campaign, there may be a revulsion in the embankment of the triumphant Radicals, and great troubles ensue.

The radicals declare they will be strong enough in the next Congress to "throw out" the few democrats recently elected. Go on gentlemen; you certainly have as much right to exclude democratic Congressmen as to declare the legally elected representatives of the South shall not take their seats. You may reject members of Congress but cannot get the people to endorse your nefarious constitutional amendments. Congress may be republican, yet it cannot alter the present form of government without the consent of the people. Amendments must be submitted to us for approval or rejection and as free agents in the full exercise of voting privileges we have a right to cast our ballots as we please. You cannot frighten the people by expelling Democratic Congressmen.

An exchange complains that the widow of John Brown is being supported by the people of England.—Why not? Didn't John Brown attempt to destroy the government of the United States an undertaking England endorsed, but was afraid to hazard? Certainly Mrs. Brown should be supported by the abolitionists of England, while the soul of her husband "is marching on" to —

MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD.—The up mail train reaches Meridian at 2:15, a. m. The down mail train at 5:45, a. m. There are four freights a day—two each way. Southward at 6 a. m. and 5:05, p. m. Northward, at 6 a. m. and 6:30, p. m.

Over in Eutaw, Ala., where is published a good paper, and where there is a lyceum, the young men are debating the question: "Is matrimony a proper step to take at the present time." Affirmative—Armstrong and Crawford. Negative—Hale and Randolph. Do your level best, A. & C.

At a public meeting of Lunken county Ga., it was resolved to disapprove all efforts which are now being made which look to the absolute repudiation of private debts.

According to the message of Governor Patton to the Legislature of Alabama, the bonded debt of the State is about four millions and a half.

A Washington telegram of the 26th announces that the statement recently printed about the President abandoning his policy of restoration is utterly false and absurd. The President abandons no portion of his policy. The constitutional amendment is acknowledged to be a failure and impossible of adoption; hence the Congressional scheme of restoration is a complete failure. By the President's plan if it is fully adopted, Congress has only to admit the loyal representatives from the South, and restoration is complete. This view will be advocated in the message, but in deference to the views of the majority of that body, indorsed by the recent elections, the President will suggest a method of amending the Constitution in such a way as to make it to the interest of the Southern people to give the ballot to the negro. Doubtful.

The New Orleans Fair.

The following is the result of the exhibitions at the New Orleans Fair thus far:

The Awarding Committee made the following awards:
For a barrel of the best beer made in the State, a gold medal to Mr. G. Metz, of New Orleans.
For the best bottled beer, a silver medal for the article exhibited by Messrs. J. A. Blaffer & Co., of New Orleans, and manufactured by Massey, Huston & Co., Philadelphia.
For the best lager beer made in the United States, a gold medal for that exhibited by H. A. Coherman, of New Orleans, and made by Jas. A. Huck, of Chicago.
For the best ale made in the United States, a gold medal for that exhibited by J. A. Blaffer & Co., and made by Massey, Huston & Co.
For the best ornament in chocolate in the miscellaneous department, the Committee recommend a premium for that made and exhibited by D. Lopez, of New Orleans.
For the best mowing machine, a premium for that exhibited by Norris & Co., of New Orleans, and made by Dodge, Stephenson & Co., of Auburn, New York. The mowing of the grass upon the Fair Grounds in the contest for this premium was very interesting and the contention animated.
For the best American rifle of Southern manufacture, a premium to J. E. Bailey.

For the best double-barrelled shot gun of Southern manufacture, a premium to Henry Folsom & Co.; and also, to same parties, a premium for the best display of fire-arms.
Mr. F. Roberts was accorded honorable mention for a revolving pistol. Messrs. C. T. Baddecke, & Co., of this city, were awarded the honor of the Dupont manufacture of gunpowder; and Messrs. Rankin & Beener, as exhibitors, received alike honorable mention for the specimens of gunpowder entered by them, the Committee being unable to decide between the relative merits of the articles exhibited by them.

For the best Creole stallion, five years and over, in harness, the premium of $100 was awarded to Mr. A. Fortier, of New Orleans, owner of "Champion."

For the best Creole colt, three years old and over, the premium of $20 was awarded to Gen. R. C. Camp, of Itherville, Louisiana, who entered a "Vandyke" colt, out of "Temptation."

For the best specimen of fine cut smoking tobacco, J. W. Jennings & Co., of Lynchburg, Va., received a diploma and $50 premium.

For the best specimens of German fine cut smoking tobacco, Mayers & Brothers, of New Orleans received a premium of $50.

For the best display of manufactured tobacco, the premium was given to Irb, McDaniel & Co., owners, the tobacco being manufactured in Lynchburg, Va.

For the best display of home manufactured tobacco, the premium was awarded to Guignard & Schneider, of New Orleans.

For the best specimen of fine cut chewing tobacco, a diploma and silver medal was awarded to Mayers & Brothers.

Best hoghead bright wrapper tobacco, exhibited by Messrs. Speed, Sumner & Co., of New Orleans, and manufactured by J. C. Depositor, of Kentucky. Premium, a gold medal and $100.

Best specimen of cigars. Premium, a gold medal, awarded to George Alces, of New Orleans.

Best specimen of Perique smoking tobacco not less than five carats. Mr. Edmund Bourgeois, of New Orleans, made four entries, of different manufactures, and received the premium for that manufactured by Augusta Le Blac.

For the best 3 year old heifer, the premium of $20 was awarded to Mrs. Margaret Haughey, the well known bakeress of this city, who raised the heifer in this city.

The decision relative to the gentlemen's private buries to horses, single dash of two miles, was reserved till Monday, on account of a protest made by one of the contestants.

There were five entries.
The premium of $100 in the double team race, free for all entries, to go in skeleton wagon, single dash of two miles, was awarded to T. P. Roach, of Pittsburg, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The steamer Scotia from Liverpool brings the London morning Herald, which adverts to the consideration of the pending questions between the United States and Great Britain even by arbitration if necessary.

The London Times says, that Her Majesty's Government (this of course applies to the half crazy sea tyrant of England) contemplates empowering a commission to enquire into the condition of the neutrality laws and to report upon the possibility of amending them so as to bring them into more complete conformity with the international obligations.

This inquiry will not preclude the further steps which may be taken with regard to the adjustment of the Alabama claims, which are still under consideration by the government and must be tried upon their own merits.

Much damage had been done by the floods in Lancashire and Yorkshire, England. A subscription for the sufferers by the Quebec fire, had been started in Liverpool, and the London subscription had reached seventeen thousand pounds.

A large detachment of marines were taken over to Queenstown on the war steamer Plymouth. A gunboat at Chatham has been ordered to sail for Queenstown. Much alarm is felt at Cork and through Ireland generally. The London Times of this morning believes that Stephens the chief organizer of the Irish Republic will soon arrive, if he has not already landed.

The Globe hints that a more serious difficulty may occur with the United States which it thinks is at the bottom of the Fenian business.

A telegram was received in Paris yesterday from Washington by the United States Minister. It was very long, occupying many hours in transmission. It is believed it relates to the Mexican question.

The London Herald says Minister Adams has renewed the Alabama case, and that a cabinet meeting will soon be held, when the case is to receive the consideration its importance deserves.

It is officially announced that the government has refused the use of the Parks for trade reform demonstrations.
